TEXT FOR YOU

SYNOPSIS

Clara simply can't get over the loss of her beloved Ben, who died two years ago in a car accident. Even her headstrong roommate Katja is barely able to coax her friend back to life. However, Clara continues sending wistful text messages to Ben's old cell phone number... without realizing that the number has been recently reassigned. With the result that her romantic, loving memories pop up directly in the display window of sports journalist Mark. Perplexed yet touched, he reads through all this longing-turned-SMS... and in his confusion, stumbles from one blunder to the next regarding his girlfriend Fiona. All the same: he's got to find the mysterious stranger at all costs, and enlists his best friend David to help him in the search...

THE DIRECTOR

Karoline Herfurth was born in Berlin-Pankow in 1984. She was discovered in a Berlin schoolyard at the age of 15, and soon afterward found herself on the set with Robert Stadlober and Tom Schilling in a production by Hans-Christian Schmid. The result, CRAZY, won the Silver Filmstrip as Best Feature Film at the 2001 German Film Awards.

Following her Abitur, Herfurth trained at the renowned Ernst Busch Academy of Dramatic Art, where she also gained the professional skills for her great international breakthrough as the Plum Girl in Tom Tykwer's lavish bestseller screen adaptation PERFUME: THE STORY OF A MURDERER (2006).

Herfurth got started as a director with the short film MITTELKLEINER MENSCH (2011), which celebrated its premiere at the 46th Hof International Film Festival.

As both director and lead actress, Karoline Herfurth is taking on the challenge of her first full-length film in TEXT FOR YOU.
